50th Conference on Broadcast Meteorology

On behalf of the American Meteorological Society's Board of Broadcast Meteorology, we're excited to welcome you to the Phoenix, Arizona aka the "Valley of the Sun." With 3,872 hours of bright sunshine annually, Phoenix receives the most sunshine of any major city on Earth and what better place to hold a very special milestone for the 50th Conference on Broadcast Meteorology.

Phoenix is also well known its long, extremely hot summers and short, mild winters. Average high temperatures in summer are the hottest of any major city in the United States. On average, there are 111 days annually with a high of at least 100 °F (38 °C), especially from the end of May through late September. Still there's a lot to see and do here in this amazing city with great places to eat and to have fun.

This gathering of meteorologists, climatologists, educators, and communicators has an impressive selection of content. As always, the tradition of extracurricular events continues! Meet all our vendors at the Exhibit Opening Reception on Wednesday evening, where you can mingle during this catered event. Join other attendees at the Exhibit Hall Lunch Buffet on Thursday. This year's conference outing will be on Thursday at Arizona Wilderness Brewery. Buses depart for the outing at 6:00pm. Your ticket covers a drink, bites to dine on while you get to know your fellow meteorologists, and transportation to the event and back to the hotel.

Special thanks to our sponsors Climate Central and Climavision. We also want to thank Mike Augustyniak, CPROF Commissioner, members of the Board of Broadcast Meteorology, members of the Station Scientist Committee, Paul Gross and Mike Nelson for helping to organize some of this year's compelling presentations and panels. Thank you also to Kelly Savoie, Jenn Rosen, Jeiry Nin Gomera and Jessica Hanley for their tireless efforts from AMS Headquarters in organizing the conference and outing.

Finally, thank you for taking your time to attend this conference. Your participation here is part of an ongoing effort to continue delivering the forecast & life saving information to your viewers in both the broadcasting & digital world. If you have any questions or concerns, do not hesitate to let us know. Please follow conference updates on Twitter @AMSBroadcastCon.

Welcome to Phoenix!

Sincerely,

Vanessa Alonso and Danielle Breezy

Suitcasing

Exhibitors at the AMS 50th Conference on Broadcast Meteorology have invested and committed their support to this industry. They have planned for several months or more to bring the Attendees the experience they seek and deserve. Suit-casing refers to those companies or persons who attend the Meeting and "work the aisles" from their suitcase (briefcase) and solicit business in the aisles, conference areas or hotels.

Suit-casing Policy: Only contracted Exhibitors are permitted to promote their products, services or company at the Meeting. All company promotion and product sampling must occur within the contracted booth space. This includes, but is not limited to handing out flyers, approaching Exhibitor booths to sell products, and leaving and/or distributing product information in public spaces and show floor aisles. Exhibitors found doing so will be sent back to their booth space and materials left will be confiscated and disposed of properly. Attendees will be asked to leave the show and forfeit their badge. Additional penalties may apply. Any "suit-casers" observed by either attendees and/or exhibitors should be reported to the Show Management immediately

Special Needs

It is our sincere desire to comply fully with both the letter and the spirit of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA). Special housing needs should have been requested when making hotel reservations. Should you need assistance onsite, please see Jeiry Nin Gomera at the AMS Registration Desk.
